RE: Federally Guaranteed Stafford & PLUS Student Loans

Student Loans have recently been getting much attention in the news media. An article in the Friday, April 4, 2008 edition of the Wall Street Journal pointed out that thirty-two different student loan lenders have recently discontinued originating new student loans. Some of these lenders previously made loans to students attending UW Oshkosh.

I'm here to tell you that UW Oshkosh Credit Union has no plans to leave the student loan marketplace. Stafford & Plus loans are very important to our members and consequently, they are very important to us. UW Oshkosh Credit Union has made about $15 million in Stafford & PLUS loans over the past number of years making the credit union one of the leading, if not top, student loan lenders serving UW Oshkosh students.

So, if you currently have either a Stafford or PLUS loan with the credit union, rest assured that you will be able to continue to borrow from us. If your loan was with one of these thirty-two lenders who are exiting the marketplace or if you are in need of a loan for the first time, we welcome your business. Please enter our Lender Code of 833-426 on your Master Promissory Note and we will be your lender of choice.

As always, if you have questions please stop in or call one of our offices. If I can be of further assistance, please contact me direct at 920-424-1060 or at chicoine@uwosh.edu.

Sincerely;

Scott Chicoine
