UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN
OSHKOSH

EXCEL CENTER

A division of the College of Education and Human Services

Boost your professional expertise

If you are currently on an emergency license, your responsibilities include teaching out-of-field or are looking to expand your expertise to include a new subject or developmental area, the EXCEL Center a division of the UW Oshkosh College of Education and Human Services, can help you obtain the additional teaching license(s) you need.

Our unique Add-on Licensure Program is individually tailored to help currently licensed teachers obtain additional licenses that can enhance school flexibility and teachers' professional growth and development.

With the ability to complete coursework on campus or via distance learning at select accredited two- or four-year institutions, the program provides the flexibility professional educators require.

Eight steps for obtaining add-on licensure

1) Learn about the Add-On Program

Investigate the EXCEL Center website for program information and fees. Then contact us with questions about program requirements for the additional license you wish to obtain.

2) Submit your transcript for review

Complete a transcript review request to see which courses will be required to obtain licensure for the new content/developmental area in which you are interested. Note: Submitting life experience documentation in lieu of course deficiencies is an option; contact the EXCEL Center for more information.

Apply for admission

After a successful transcript review, submit the Add-On Licensure Program application for acceptance into the program. A final determination of your individualized course plan will be developed for the license you want to obtain.

3) Complete required coursework

Coursework for your new license, as outlined in your individualized plan, may be completed at select two- or four-year institutions. Courses may be taken on campus or via distance learning. All courses not taken at UW Oshkosh must be approved by the EXCEL Center prior to enrollment. Compacted (accelerated) courses, both in credit and time, are available for some licensure areas.

4) Pass the PRAXIS II exam

Submit proof of passing PRAXIS II exam scores (for the new content/developmental licensure area) to the EXCEL Center. This documentation must be received by the EXCEL Center prior to your participation in the Add-On Licensure Practicum.

5) Complete your Add-On License practicum

Successfully complete an on-the-job practicum in the new content/developmental area. (Visit uwosh.edu/excel for specific information about the practicum.)

6) Create a professional portfolio

In alignment with Wisconsin Educator Standards (PI 34), construct a professional electronic portfolio that documents your growth in knowledge, skills and disposition related to teaching in the new content/developmental area.

7) Apply for licensure

After you have completed all program requirements, complete a Wisconsin DPI application for licensure in the new content/developmental area. Your application must be processed through the EXCEL Center.
