Email Policy and Procedures

University Use of Email

E-mail is considered an official method for communicating with UW Oshkosh students (effective November 7, 2002). The University may send communications to students via email, and students are therefore responsible for the consequences of not reading University-related communications sent to their official UW Oshkosh student email account. It is recommended that students check their University email account at least twice a week.

All graduate students, upon admission to a graduate program, are assigned a free UW Oshkosh student email account.

Accessing University Email via TitanMail (Off-Campus)

- Go to the University's homepage, www.uwosh.edu.
- Click on the TitanMail link.

Logging in

- Your username will be the first five letters of your last name, the first letter of your first name, and the last two digits of your seven-digit student ID number. (Example: anderm89).
- As a first time user you must change your password before continuing. To do this, click the "change password" link on the login screen. Your default password is set to your seven-digit student ID number.

Once you've logged in, you will be able to view all of the e-mail messages that are in your "New Mail" folder. Messages will remain in this folder until they are either deleted or moved into a different folder by the user.

Redirecting Email

Students may elect to redirect (autoforward) messages sent to their UW Oshkosh official student email account to a non-University account (i.e. AOL, Yahoo, Hotmail, etc.). Having email lost as a result of redirection does not absolve a student from the responsibilities associated with communication sent to his or her official email account. The University is not responsible for the handling of email by outside vendors or unofficial servers.
