Six Steps for Doing Your Research

Step 1 What are you looking for?

What is your topic sentence or research question?

- Provides a starting point from which to draw search terms or keywords.
- Helps you determine if your topic is too broad or too narrow.

Step 2 What are your Search Terms?

List the important concepts from your research statement.

- Are there any synonyms or related terms?
- Can any of the terms be both plural and singular?
- Do any of the terms have another meaning?

Step 3 Do you have Limiters

Limiters are special conditions that are required for the assignment

- Articles published in the last five years
- Peer Reviewed journals
- Research

Step 4 Construct your Search

Keyword Searching

- Keyword searching locates the term anywhere in the item's record
- The computer searches for the term as a string of characters
- What context the term is used becomes very important

Boolean Operator AND (Narrows)

- The most frequently used operator
- Looks for both terms in the record
- Makes the search results smaller

Boolean Operators OR (Broadens)

- Expands your search by locating either term in the record
- Useful for searching
  - Plurals
  - Synonyms
  - Related terms
  - Comparisons

Truncation

- The addition of symbol to the end of a root word to retrieve variant endings.
- Usually a? or *
- Find both the singular and plural form

Subject Headings and Descriptors

- More precise than keyword searching
- Is defined within the context of the database
  - Locate materials on the same topic
  - Eliminate duplicate search terms

Step 5 Where to Start

- Where can I find background information?
  - Print Reference
    - Encyclopedia of Educational Research
  - Electronic Reference
    - Dictionary of Psychology

- What Periodical Indexes included materials on my topic?

- General
  - Education Full-text
- Specific
  - ERIC/PsychInfo

Step 6 Locating your Materials

- Use Find it to locate Articles in electronic or print format
  - Request Articles not available at Polk Library using Interlibrary Loan
- Check Polk Catalog and BadgerCat for Books
  - Request items not available at Polk Library using Universal Borrowing and Interlibrary Loan

SECTION 2: ELECTRONIC RESOURCES

Online Periodical Indexes and Resources in Education

For a list of Electronic Resources specifically for Education go to <http://www.uwosh.edu/library/subjects/education.html>

LIBRARY CATALOGS

Polk Online Catalog

The Online catalog contains the holdings for Polk Library including the main collection, government documents and the EMC.

BadgerCat

WorldCat is a mega-library catalog containing more than 42 million records contributed by 15,000 libraries around the world. It contains full bibliographic descriptions and cataloging information for the following types of materials: books, serials, manuscripts, sound recordings, audiovisual materials, maps, music scores, and computer-readable files.

PERIODICAL INDEXES AND RESOURCES

★ PsycInfo (Ebsco)

Indexes works in the field of psychology, including counseling and educational psychology. The index includes journal articles, books and book chapters

Web access Ebsco 1887-to present

★ ERIC (Cambridge, Ebsco,)

Produced by the Education Resource Information Center, ERIC is the largest information database of educational research and practices. Along with journal articles, ERIC indexes papers, reports, conference proceedings and curricula materials. ERIC is not a full-text database

ERIC Journals vs. ERIC Documents

ERIC contains two different types of documents. They can be told apart by the two letters at the beginning of the AN number.

ERIC DOCUMENTS (ED) are unpublished information such as papers or reports. Most of these can be found on Third Floor South in Government Documents on microfiche, using there AN number at the top of each record. The majority of recent Eric Documents are available electronically

ERIC JOURNALS (EJ) are published articles appearing in journals. Use the Find It feature to ascertain if the article is available electronically, in print at Polk Library or needs to be requested using Iliad.

Social Science Citation Index (Web of Science)

Provides access to current bibliographic information and cited references, covering more than 1,700 of the world's leading social sciences journals in a broad range of disciplines, including education and psychology.

Web access 1987- to present

SECTION 2: ELECTRONIC RESOURCES

Advanced Keyword Searching

What is Keyword Searching?

Keyword searching is the most flexible type of search that can be done on an online catalog or index. Unlike a Subject Search, the term can appear anywhere the record, including the title, the author's name, subject heading or the name of the periodical or publisher. Keyword Searches can be as simple as a single word or very complex using Boolean operators, searchable fields and nested searches.

Boolean Operators

A method of combining concepts in a keyword search, which allows the searcher to make use of three logical commands (operators).

AND

Used to narrow the search result. Each time another concept is added using "and" the search becomes more specific
Informal assessment and validity

OR

Used to expand or broaden the search results by including synonyms and related terms.
Validity or reliability

NOT

Used to exclude unwanted records for the search results.
Validity not reliability

Nested Search

When two different Boolean operators are used in the same search statement, parentheses must be included to indicate which command is to be preformed first.

Informal assessment and (validity or reliability)

Truncation

In database searching, the addition of a symbol (usually ? or *) to a root word to retrieve variant endings. Truncation can be used to retrieve both the singular and the plural forms of a word at the same time.

School*

Will locate school, schools, schooling

Descriptors/Subject Headings

A word or phrase assigned to a work to indicate its subject, and to serve as an access point in an index catalog or database. Many databases such as ERIC have their own list of subject headings called descriptors. These descriptors appear in the DE field of the record and can be used to find additional search terms

Searchable Fields

Search Terms can be limited to a particular field of the record. Most databases will allow terms to limited to the Title, Author or Subject field. Other terms may also limit to Publication Year, Language or Publication Type field. For example in ERIC

Informal assessment and pt=research

Will limit citations to only research articles on informal assessment

Stopwords

Short words are terms that occur too frequently for the database to search them. Using one of these words usually results in no records being found. Each database uses its own stopword list.

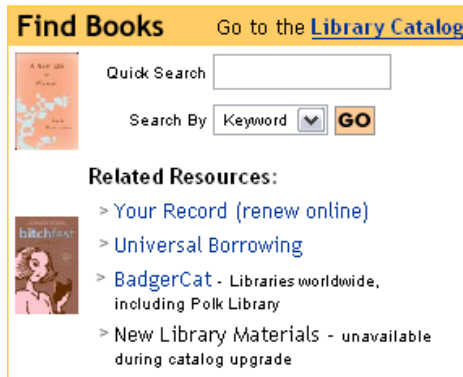

Examples a, an on, of, with, because

Polk Library Catalog

Searching From the Main Page

Author Looks for books written by a particular author. Be sure to type last name then first name, (Shakespeare William) For books about an author, use subject heading searching as below.

Title/Journal Title Looks for an exact match of the words you type in. If unsure of a title, try typing just the first word or two. Use Journal Title when searching for journals or magazines.

Subject Heading Looks for Library of Congress Subject Headings (LCSH). If you don't know the "official" subject heading for your topic, try using a keyword search instead.

Keyword Looks for your term anywhere in the record. A great way to start searching for materials on your topic. The Polk Catalog offers two types of keyword searching.

Keyword Use for quick simple topic searches. Basic is similar to searching Internet search engines such as Alta Vista or Infoseek.

- Use +in front of important terms
+internet+censorship
- Place phrases in "quotes"
"gun control"

Advanced Keyword Is the most complex and flexible of the keyword searches. This option is similar to the keyword search in many periodical indexes. Advance Search must be done from the Catalog page.

- Phrases MUST be in "quotes"
"gun control"

Set Limits

Search Limits allows you to limit search results to a variety of criteria, including publication year, language and location.

Limiting to common locations can be done from the Basic search screen other options are available using the Advance Search feature of the catalog

Use the Find Video search on the library homepage to locate videos by keyword or title.

Using Badgercat

Getting to Badgercat.

Badgercat can be found at the end of the “Know Where you what to Search” list on the Polk Library Home page.

Searching

The screenshot shows the BadgerCat search interface with several callouts:

- Search in database: A callout points to the "BadgerCat" dropdown menu, stating: "Select the record field you term should appear in. Keyword is the default. You may also choose subject heading, title, or author."
- Limit to: A callout points to the "Language" dropdown menu, stating: "Use to limit by year, language, or document type."
- Limit type to: A callout points to the "Limit type to" section, which includes checkboxes for Books, Visual Materials, Computer Files, Internet Resources, Serial Publications, Sound Recordings, Archival Materials, and Continually Updated Resources. The callout states: "Use to limit by year, language, or document type."
- Subtype limits: A callout points to the "Subtype limits" section, which includes dropdown menus for "not Juvenile", "not Fiction", and "Any Format". The callout states: "Set to not juvenile and not fiction to remove all children and fiction work from your results"

ERIC via EBSCO

Getting Started

1. Select ERIC-Ebsco from the List of Library Search Tools
2. ERIC will open a search screen

Doing a Search

This search looks for the search terms anywhere in the record. A single word or phrase may be used.

The screenshot shows the EBSCO search interface. At the top left is the EBSCO logo. Below it, the text "Searching: ERIC" is followed by a link "Choose Databases »". The main search area consists of three rows of input fields. The first row contains "academic achievement" in the first field, "in" in the second, and "Select a Field (optional)" in the third. The second row contains "and" in a dropdown, "science education" in the first field, "in" in the second, and "Select a Field (optional)" in the third. The third row contains "and" in a dropdown, an empty first field, "in" in the second, and "Select a Field (optional)" in the third. To the right of these fields are "Search" and "Clear" buttons, and a help icon. Below the search fields are links for "Advanced Search", "Visual Search", "Search History/Alerts", and "Preferences »". An "Add Row" link is located to the right of the third field. Annotations include: "Enter your search and click Search" pointing to the search fields; "Request terms appear in author, title or subject field of the record" pointing to the field dropdowns; and "Add additional terms to your search." pointing to the "Add Row" link.

Limiting to ERIC Journals or Documents

ERIC contains two differing types of materials. ERIC Journals (published articles) and ERIC Documents (unpublished papers, handbooks and other materials provided on Microfiche and as PDF fillies through the EDRS Service)

Use the Journal or Document box located in the Limiter menu to limit your results to either Journals or Documents.

Journal or Document

Using the ERIC Thesaurus

Thesaurus Search allows you to search ERIC's list of descriptors. You may select as many as you wish and ERIC will list all the citations, which contains at least one of the descriptors.

1. Click the Thesaurus Search Button at the top of the screen.
2. Enter your search in the second box and click the Browse Button to the right.
3. ERIC will move down its list of subjects to match your term. Click the term to see its full record.
4. Select your terms by clicking the box to the left of the subject. Your term will appear in the first box.
5. Click the Search Button.

Using Subject Heading/Descriptors

When you perform a search, Ebsco ERIC produces a list of the ten most common ERIC Descriptors found in your result list. These terms can be used to narrow and expand your search results.

- If one of your search terms appears in the list click it. It will remove articles that include the word, but do not really discuss the topic.
- Check to see if EBSCO ERIC provides an alternative term to any of your search terms (Ex Academic Achievement instead of Academic Success.) This will usually locate more materials on your topic.
- Use the list as a quick way to cut down large results by selecting additional search terms.

Using Field Limiters

Field Limiters are a simple way to more effectively search complex databases like PsycInfo. This tells the index the term must appear in that field of the record. For Example selecting journal article in the Publication Type box will tell the index journal article must appear in the Publication Type (PT) field, eliminating any books, chapters, dissertations from your results.

Refining your Search

When you perform a search, Psycinfo produces a list of the ten most common Subject Headings found in your result list. These terms can be used to narrow and expand your search results.

- If one of your search terms appears in the list click it. It will remove articles that include the word but is not really about the topic
- Check to see if Psycinfo provides an alternative term to any of your search terms (Ex Testing instead of Assessment.) This will usually locate more materials on your topic.
- Use the list as a quick way to cut down large results by selecting additional search terms.

The screenshot shows a sidebar for refining search results. It is titled "Narrow Results by" and has several expandable sections. The "Subject" section is expanded, showing a list of terms: Bipolar Disorder, Drug Therapy, Comorbidity, Treatment Outcomes, Pediatrics, and Major Depression, with a "More >>" link. Below this is a section for "Subject: Major Heading" with terms: Bipolar Disorder, Drug Therapy, Major Depression, Treatment, Anticonvulsive Drugs, and Antidepressant Drugs, also with a "More >>" link. At the bottom, there are sections for "Age" and "Gender", both currently collapsed.

Printing/Email/Saving

PSYCINFO allows you to place citations in a folder for printing, emailing or saving to disk.

1. Click the folder icon at the top of the screen
2. At the next page, select the materials from folder you wish to keep. You must select your materials before proceeding to the next step
3. Select the option you wish to use.
4. In the Print and Save feature Ebsco will format the materials for printing or saving. When emailing it will ask for your email address.
5. For Printing or Saving use your browser print or save function to complete the process.

Using Cited References and Times Cited

SECTION 3: INTERNET RESOURCES

Locating & Evaluating Internet Information

Virtual Libraries- group web sites grouped by subjects. The web sites listed are most often reviewed by someone before being included.

Librarian's Index to the Internet
<http://lii.org>

Internet Public Library
<http://www.ipl.org/>

Subject Directories- group web sites by subject categories, similar to Virtual Libraries. The links are usually not evaluated before being added.

Yahoo
<http://www.yahoo.com>

LookSmart
<http://search.looksmart.com/>

Search Engines- Also called "spiders" or "crawlers", search engines constantly visit web sites on the internet in order to create catalogs of web sites. Usually contain many more sites than the virtual libraries or subject directories. Search Engines do not index web sites by subject, rather each word on page is indexed, thus results can sometimes be misleading.

- Enter phrases in quotes. Ex "Green Bay Packers"

Google
<http://www.google.com>

Altavista
<http://www.altavista.com/>

Meta-Search Engines -sites that allow you to input your search once and retrieve results from numerous search engines. Using one of these can save you time, however, you will lose the advantage of some advanced searching capabilities that Search Engines now offer when searched individually.

DogPile
<http://www.dogpile.com/>

Meta Crawler

Using the Get Full Text

What is Get Full Text?

Get Full Text is a service available with Polk Library's periodical indexes which allows you to determine:

- ❖ If an article is available full-text from another periodical index
- ❖ If Polk Library owns a print copy of the journal the article appeared in.
- ❖ Place a request through Interlibrary Loan to receive the article from another library

SECTION 4: PUTTING IT TOGETHER

Locating Materials from a Bibliography

Utilizing a useful article's bibliography or references list can be a very efficient way to locate more materials on your research topic.

To Start

Determine if the item is an article, book or book article. Depending on the type of materials you will use different strategies to locate the material

The examples below will help you determine what you are looking for and how to locate it.

Journal Article

Smith, S., Boone, R., & Higgins, K. (1998). Expanding the writing process on the web. Teaching Exceptional Children, 30(5), 22-27.

- To find your article you will first need to determine if Polk Library has access to the journal in which your article was published in either Know the name of a specific journal and want to know if we get it? online or print format.
- The Journal name is usually in Italics followed by a volume and number
- Use the "Know the name of a specific journal and want to know if we get it?" search located on the Polk Library home page.
- If journal is not available online or print request the article from Interlibrary Loan

Title begins with

Journal available online. Click the link to the journal. Most programs will allow you to go to the year and then the issue in which your article was published

Library has the Journal in print. If the article is not available online, it can be request from the library's Interlibrary Loan services

Lancet (North American edition) (0099-5355)

in Polk Library Collection: click to check print holdings

from 01/05/1991 to 12/24/2006 in Academic Search Premier and Health Source: Nursing/Academic Edition

from 1994 to 1996 in Periodical Abstracts

from 01/01/1995 to 01/25/2003 in LexisNexis Academic

Books and Book Chapters

- Book and book chapter citations will include a city and publisher at the end of the citation.
- When locating book chapters search for the book it appeared in.
- Use the BadgerCat program to determine where the item is available.
- If the book is available from an UW library, Universal Borrowing can be used to have the item sent in an UW library in your area. (See page 8)
- Books not available through the UW System can be request using Interlibrary Loan. (See page 8)

Book Citation

Freed, M. (1989). The Educators Desk Reference: A Sourcebook Educational Information and Research. New York: Macmillan Pub. Co.

Book Chapter Citation

Block, J. S., Weinstein, J., & Steiz, M. (2005). School and parent partnerships in the preschool years. In D. Zeiger (Ed.), Autism spectrum disorders: Identification, education, and treatment (3rd ed.). Mahwah, NJ: Lawrence Erlbaum Associates Publishers.

LOCATING PRINT AND ONLINE ARTICLES IN POLK LIBRARY

Checking Polk Library's Holdings

Before looking for your articles it is important to make sure the Polk Library receives the periodicals. You can search Polk Library's print and electronic journal holding from the main library page.

The screenshot shows the Polk Library website interface. The main navigation bar includes 'Find Books', 'Find Articles', 'Find Course Reserves', and 'Find Videos'. The 'Find Articles' section is highlighted, showing search options like 'Academic Search Elite' and 'Find articles by subject'. A callout box is overlaid on the 'Know the name of a specific journal and want to know if we get it?' section, showing search results for the 'Journal of special education (0022-4669)'. The callout box contains the following text:

Journal of special education (0022-4669)
 in Polk Library Collection: click to check print holdings
 from 03/01/1975 to present in Academic Search Premier and Professional Development Collection from 03/01/1984 to present in MasterFILE Premier from 01/01/1996 to 12/01/2007 in Education Full Text and Wilson OmniFile: Full Text Mega Edition

Annotations on the page include:

- An arrow pointing to the 'Journal of special education' entry with the text: 'Available in print at Polk library, see page 26 for more information'.
- An arrow pointing to the 'Academic Search Premier and Professional Development Collection' entry with the text: 'Available online. Make sure to select a database that includes the date of your article.'

Locating Articles from an Online Source

1. Search the Know the Name of a Specific Journal option list located on the library's home page to determine if your periodical is available online
2. Select a database. Be sure to select a database that includes the date of your article.
3. Articles can be retrieved using two different methods depending on the database.
  - a. By Publication-Articles in databases such as Academic Search, Wilson Web, JSTOR, Project Muse or ABI Inform are retrieved by locating the publication and then locating the year and issue of the needed article.
  - b. By Author/Title- Articles in databases such as Periodical Abstracts can be retrieved using author's name and a few words from the title. The author's name is usually the more useful since they tend to be more unique.
4. Select an article format.
  - a. Text/HTML-Article text formatted into an html page, Usually does not include graphs, charts or images included in the original article. Requires less memory than PDF items.
  - b. Full Page Image/PDF-Article present in Portable Document Format. Looks exactly like the original articles, Items require Adobe Acrobat to display and print. Items can require a large amount of memory and can be time consuming to download and print.

Polk Library Collection

The Polk Online Catalog lists of all of the periodicals Polk Library has received and can be searched directly by using the Journal Title Search.

The Journal of special education

Title: The Journal of special education

Publisher: [New York] Grune & Stratton.

Subject(s): Special education Periodicals.

Handicapped children Education Periodicals.

Recent Issues are located in the reference room. Issues at the Bindery are also included in this list

The Holdings lists the date the library started receiving the periodical. The library will have all issues between that date and the date listed under Current shelf

Helpful Hints

- Periodicals are in a paper format unless otherwise noted.
- Periodicals are arranged in alphabetical order. However, if the first word is a an or the go to the next word in the title.
- If you're having problems ask for help at the Reference Desk.

Locations

Most of the periodical collection is located in three areas of the library. A few periodicals are also located in the EMC on 1st North and Government Documents on 3rd South.

CURRENT PERIODICALS 1st South

Current periodicals includes recent periodicals (current publication year). Recent newspapers (current and previous month) are also located in this room.

BOUND PERIODICALS 2nd South

The library keeps the majority of its older periodicals in large bound volumes. Each of these volumes contains several issues of the periodical, and are shelved in alphabetical order.

MICROFILM 1st North

Back issues of newspapers and some periodicals (those with unusual formats or have high use) are kept in this format. Reader printers are available. Circulation can help you get started.

BINDERY

Periodicals are sent to the bindery before being placed on 2nd South. They are unavailable during this time. Current bindery lists are located with the Polk Library Periodical Title lists in the Reference room

Using Interlibrary Loan (ILL) & Universal Borrowing (UB)

What to know about Interlibrary Loan and Universal borrowing?

- Login into ILL and UB using the 16 digit number at the top of your Titan Card and your last name
- UB allows you to request books and audio visual materials available at other UW system libraries
- Articles from magazines and journals can not be requested using UB
- ILL receives and lends articles or books not available at Polk or from other UW Libraries
- ILL is the only way to request articles not available in print or electronically at Polk Library.
- Notification of materials are sent to your university email

Important Interlibrary Loan Facts

- Interlibrary Loan is also referred to as ILLIAD
- Most ILL article request usually take 3-5 business day. Books may take 1-2 weeks
- Article can be access electronically through your Illiad account, Books can be picked up at Polk Library's circulation desk
- ILL Request can be done directly through the Find It function (articles) or using BadgerCat (books).
- Whole issues of periodicals, videos and sound recordings cannot be requested.
- Reference Librarians can answer general questions concerning ILL. Other questions will be directed to the ILL Department itself. ILL is open Monday -Friday 7:45-4:30 and is closed on the weekends.

Important Universal Borrowing Facts

- Check out most materials for 28 days but they can not be able to be renewed. Videos and curriculum materials circulate for 14 days.
- Pick up and return materials at any UW System campus library.

Checking your Requests

To track the status of your request...

1. Log on to Your Record from the Polk Library Catalog menu.
  2. Enter your 16-digit Titan card number.
  3. Locate the section entitled Request Information.
- Materials generally arrive within 1 to 5 days.
  - Check your record frequently to determine if your materials are available to be picked up. A notice will also be mailed to you.
