

Department of Economics

Study Abroad Scholarship Application

About the Scholarship

The James Grunloh Economics Study Abroad Scholarship provides $300 of financial support for one qualified UW Oshkosh economics major or minor to participate in an approved economics study abroad program. These programs include the Study Abroad to Peru, the Economics in Scotland program, or the Germany Economics of European Integration program.

Responsibilities of Scholarship Recipients

- The recipient must be able to attend the annual departmental banquet (date to be announced)
- The recipient is responsible for carrying out follow-up projects and promotions for study abroad, including attending the study abroad fair.

Eligibility Requirements

To be eligible a student must

- Be an enrolled undergraduate at the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh
- Have declared a major or minor in Economics
- Be in good academic standing
- Have a completed and accepted application for an economics study abroad program

Application Process

To apply, please include the following items. The deadline for applications is November 1. Notification will be made by November 14.

1. Verification from the Office of International Education of your completed application for an economics study abroad program.
2. A resume.
3. A copy of your star report or transcript.
4. A one-page statement on why you want to participate in a study abroad program, and what you hope to get out of the experience.

Completed scholarship applications should be turned into Kris Kenowski in the main Economics Office in CF 333.