Friendships Among Older Adults: Comparison Between the US and Brazil

AMY M. KNEPPLE, SUSAN MCFADDEN, & KATHLEEN STETTER, University of Wisconsin Oshkosh;

ANDRÉA OLIVEIRA, & NAIARA OLIVEIRA, Universidade Federal da Bahia.

Brazilian older adults (n=24) perceive significantly more social support from their new friends than from their long time friends, whereas the opposite is true for North American older adults (n=67). Willingness to share emotions was assessed; there was a significant interaction for the country of participant by the type of friendship.
