Summer is a great time to accelerate your degree or explore a new area of study. The University of Wisconsin Oshkosh Summer Session registration is now open to UW Oshkosh students.

A variety of courses are offered from each college at UW Oshkosh, but register early for the best selection of courses.

"I've taken plenty of the business core classes over summer while working my internship, and it has helped me tremendously to stay on track and graduate in the four years, something that many students can't do," said Jordan Pennings, a marketing student at UW Oshkosh. "I would definitely suggest it. The courses are very easy to participate in and fit into many types of schedules."

Registration will open to the general public on Feb. 28, 2011.
