This week, we take a look back at 2012 Classified Staff Development and Appreciation Day, an annual event organized to recognize and encourage further development of the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh's outstanding classified staff team members.

The one-click video slide show also highlights the arrival of more than 20 Omani students who made the trip to UW Oshkosh as part of a summer program partnership between the University and its long-standing Middle Eastern academic partner, the University of Nizwa.

Just a couple of highlights you'll see "This Week in Focus." Check it out...
