ASSOCIATE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

The online Associate of Arts and Sciences (AAS) is a two-year, general education program.

An AAS can serve as the foundation for many college majors and stands on its own as a credential to help with career and skill advancement.

Most courses are delivered in accelerated, seven-week sessions, which offer additional flexibility for students.

Students who pursue their AAS develop critical thinking and communication skills. A variety of course options are available to help students tailor their degree to fit their interests.

Coursework focuses on:

- Fine arts and humanities
- Math and science
- Culture and society
- Writing and communication

An AAS can help you with your career outlook

Earning your AAS will help you build the skills that employers seek most—including communication, strategic thinking, research and writing. An AAS can make you eligible for more jobs, help position you for a higher earning potential and can be completed in two years or less. Many students continue their studies with a bachelor's degree from UW Oshkosh or another institution. Your accredited AAS from UWO is an excellent foundation no matter where your life and career take you!

Additional Credits

Additional credits and electives are required to reach the 60 credit threshold for the Associate of Arts and Sciences. The number of additional credits can depend on whether the student has previous credits from other institutions.

Explore your credit transfer options

Many students enroll in the online AAS and are able to transfer previously-earned credits, including military credits. We offer a no-pressure transfer credit evaluation before you even apply!
